Session 13: 11:00-12:00 Washington/Rock Island Brett Lief, Chief Strategic Advisor, Windham Professionals	Keeping the Focus on the Student in Student Aid Advocacy	While much is written about D.C. lobbyists and involvement in many aspects of federal public policy, the strongest voice for need-based post-secondary student financial aid are the campus professionals who help assure campus access and affordability. A long time ago, student aid was a bipartisan national priority that is now part of the appropriations and budget arm wrestling that contributes to national gridlock. Long-term NASFAA president, Dallas Martin, referred to Washington as "Disney on the Potomac" a characterization that did not receive much pushback.

		As student financial aid experts, you have the uncanny ability to "put a face" on every needy student on every dollar that your institution awards. This session will review the time tested ways to advocate on behalf of your students and avoid some common mistakes that could be a detriment.
Session 14: 11:00-12:00 Chamber Island  Deana Unger, VP of Financial Aid Operations, Inceptia	Benefits and Considerations of Verification Outsourcing	Financial aid professionals continue to face heavy workloads and their offices continue to be understaffed, often to the detriment of students. The current model of financial aid verification is daunting, time consuming and inefficient. Free up resources, speed up aid packaging, better utilization of staff and better experience for students and parents. (Target Audience: All Audiences)
Session 15: 11:00-12:00 Nicolet Bay  Zack Goodwin	One on One with a Fed	Department of Education session.
Session 16: 11:00-12:00 Court Yard  Jacky Lueker, Financial Aid Administrator, UW- Whitewater	Make Sense to Students	Tips, tricks and take-aways on how to talk about financial aid terms that makes sense to students. De-mystifying the award letter from many schools. (Target Audience: 2 years or less, Beginner)
Session 17: 2:45-3:45 Washington/Rock Island  Randy Parvin, Student Services Coordinator, University of Wisconsin-Extension	Public Speaking: Refine and Improve	Improve your delivery as a public speaker with some simple suggestions. Come as you are--it doesn't matter what level of speaking you currently possess. This session will be fun and interactive (no speaking is required!), and you'll walk away with some confidence and a smile. (Target Audience: All Audiences)
Session 18: 2:45-3:45 Chamber Island  Sue Minzlaff, Associate Director WASFAA Past President, UW- Milwaukee Jacky Lueker, Financial Aid Administrator, UW- Whitewater Patty Taylor, Director WASFAA Past Treasurer, Lakeland University	Thinking About Running for WASFAA Office?	Serving WASFAA is truly rewarding and a great way to enhance your leadership skills. WASFAA is a strong organization because every year volunteers step up and run for leadership positions. In January, the WASFAA Past President will begin the process of seeking nominations for the next group of leaders. Hear from our current Past President and Past Treasurer, as well as a member who has served as Secretary and a Member at Large. Come learn about the WASFAA Executive Committee and consider joining us in 2018-2019! (Target Audience: Aspiring Leaders)

Session 19: 2:45-3:45 Nicolet Bay  Zack Goodwin	Verification Updates	Department of Education session on Verification.
Session 20: 2:45-3:45 Court Yard  Greg Carlo, AVP Market Development, cuLearn with Thrivent	Your Financial Wellness— Let’s talk about getting YOUR house in order...	Oftentimes financial aid administrators are tasked with the role of assisting students and families figuring out how to finance a college education. However, it’s also important to ensure that our own “Financial House” is in order. We invite you to attend a session on understanding your own personal financial wellness – whether you’re ready for retirement, starting a family, or even getting ready to send your own kids off to college. This session will help you learn how to asses and explore your financial goals. (Target Audience: All Audiences)
Friday Sessions:
Session 21: 9:15-10:15 Washington/Rock Island  Cammy Johnson	Brainstorming for future WASFAA Conferences	Have ideas for interest sessions for the Spring WASFAA Conference? Come and give your input at an informal discussion! Other ideas welcome.
Session 22: 9:15-10:15 Chamber Island  John Boyne, MA, LPC, CSAC, Madison Area Technical College	Student Mental Health Issues – How is your campus addressing these?	The mental health needs of college students have increased dramatically over the last decade or more. This presentation will review these broad changes and what they require from campuses to respond thoroughly to student needs while maintaining campus safety and staff morale. Outcomes: Understand scope of changing mental health needs of college students. Review programmatic options for addressing mental health issues. Identify potential campus priorities. (Target Audience: All Audiences)
Session 23: 9:15-10:15 Nicolet Bay	Community-Engaged Financial Aid—Connecting Financial Aid Offices with the Community Engagement Portfolio	Many colleges and universities across the country have undertaken many efforts to be better connected with their local community, known as the “community engagement” movement. This movement grew out of a concern that college students should not only be prepared to enter the workforce but also be engaged citizens. The purpose of this session is to explore how financial aid professionals could be a part of the community engagement portfolio on campus, which could include service-learning, outreach, community-engaged research, community-based internships/apprenticeship programs, or service immersion programs. At the end of the session, participants will know about the many facets of community engagement movement, current efforts in Wisconsin to

Gavin Luter, Director, Wisconsin Campus Compact		strengthen higher education community engagement, and will be challenged to consider how their work would complement these activities. Examples of intersections between financial aid and community engagement in Wisconsin and across the country will be shared. The presenter will lead an interactive planning session where participants will brainstorm ideas about the natural connections between these two fields. (Target Audience: All audiences)
Session 24: 9:15-10:15 Court Yard Debbie Murphy, Senior Marketing Associate, Great Lakes	Financial Literacy: What You Need to Know to Educate Your Students	Financial education helps students make wise decisions about money and credit. You can create and tailor your own financial literacy programs by mastering basic concepts. This train-the-trainer session will give you all of the essentials you need to provide financial education to your students. You'll be able to take what you've learned and create your own presentation to educate your students so that they make wise financial choices both during school and after graduation. Specific topics covered include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• How credit scores are generated</li> <li>• How different types of loans (including student loans) impact credit history</li> <li>• How to craft your own program</li> <li>• Strategies for engaging students</li> <li>• Components of a financial literacy program</li> </ul> (Target Audience: 2-5 years)
Session 25: 10:30-11:30 Washington/Rock Island Laura Fay, Agency Liaison, The Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection	Identity Theft: Protect and Prevent	Identity theft continues to be the fastest growing crime in the United States. The more you learn about it, the less vulnerable you are. The Wisconsin Bureau of Consumer Protection will explain the different types of identity theft, how to recognize it and how to prevent it – including information about Fraud Alerts and Security Freezes. Receive tips for safeguarding personal information and how to spot the red flags of a scam. You will also be given helpful brochures to take home with you. (Target Audience: 2 years or less, Beginner)
Session 26: 10:30-11:30 Chamber Island Directors of Financial Aid: Susan Teerink, Marquette Univ. Jeff Cichon, Northcentral Technical College Mandy Slowinski, UW-Stevens Point	And You Want to Be The Director?	Do you seek new and greater responsibilities in your financial aid office? Do you aspire to rise in the ranks and someday become the director of a financial aid office? This session will share ideas on how to navigate opportunities that will build your resume and lead to advancement opportunities. Come with questions on this subject as we learn from three financial aid colleagues. (Target Audience: Aspiring Leaders)

Session 27: 10:30-11:30 Nicolet Bay Stacie Christian, Ph.D. Director of Inclusive Excellence and Pride Center; Lecturer for Human Development/Psych, University of Wisconsin-Green Bay	UWGB Inclusivity and Equity Program: One path to Inclusivity	UWGB's Inclusivity and Equity Program was developed as a response to employee feedback that there was opportunities for growth in the campus being inclusive of all employees. At UWGB, being inclusive goes beyond race and ethnicity-there is also focus on the diversity of religion, socioeconomic status, marital status, gender, gender identity, sexual orientation, veteran status, and disabilities. We teach that cultural humility is the goal, that the goal of being "competent" in understanding diversity is not a realistic goal, but continual learning about what it means to be inclusive will better improve the overall campus climate. This lecture with discussion time will provide insights on the best practices of the Inclusivity and Equity Certificate program at UWGB, and what it can do, and cannot do, without understanding cultural humility, and empathy towards and among a broader group of diverse individuals. (Target Audience: All Audiences)
Session 28: 10:30-11:30 Court Yard Nick Hillman, Associate Professor, UW-Madison	High School FAFSA Trends in Wisconsin	How has the earlier and easier FAFSA affected filing rates in WI? Which high schools have the highest filing rates? And which ones have the highest potential to improve their filing rates? This session answers these questions and, in so doing, helps us diagnose and identify solutions for improving filing rates around the state. It also discusses recent federal policy changes and examples of how other states use FAFSA data to improve college access and affordability. (Target Audience: All Audiences)
